One of my earliest recollection of this temper, for I was the victim of it. I must have been about five or six then I noticed one day two fountain pens on his office table and I looked at them with greed, I argued myself that father could not require both at the same time and so I helped myself to one of them. Later I found that a mighty search was being made for the lost pen and I grew frightened at what I had done; but I did not confess. The pen was discovered and my guilt proclaimed to the world. Father was very angry and he gave me a tremendous thrashing. Almost blind with pain and mortification at my disgrace.

When I was ten years old we changed over to a new and much bigger house which my father named 'Anand Bhavan'. This house had big garden and a swimming pool and I was full of excitement at the fresh discoveries I was continually making. Additional building were put up and there was a great deal of digging and construction and I loved to watch the labourers at work. There was a large swimming pool in the house and soon I learnt to swim and felt completely at home in and under the water. During the long and hot summer days I would go for a dip at all odd hours, many times a day. In the evening many friends of my father came to the pool.
