3. All questions carry equal marks.

1. Using concepts and texts you have read, answer the following questions in about 150 words each. (5+5)

- (a) You may know many people who are hard working but have not achieved much in life. Describe their lifestyle and why you think they are unsuccessful.
- (b) If you were given the choice to play only one sport what would that be and why?

2. Is there any connection between the prosperity of a state and the population of its women? If women have biological advantages over men, why is their ratio vis a vis men poor? Give reasons for your answer. (5+5)

3. Imagine that you are a newspaper editor. You have received the following letter from a reader. Read the letter and give solutions to any two problems in about 200 words. (10)

Dear Sir,

I read your newspaper every day. Usually, I agree with what you say in the Editorial columns. But your last week's article 'Our Cities' made me very angry. You said our city is crowded, noisy and dirty. Drains leak, dustbins overflow and roads are bad. What is more, there are no rules for traffic control. But you said nothing about how we could make things better. It is easy to say that there is too much garbage on the streets, but what do you suggest we do to make our city a better place to live in? We know the problems. Give us your solution!

– An angry reader

Begin like this :

Dear Reader,

I have read your letter and understand your anguish. Let me answer your questions.....

4. Despite several laws to stop child labour in our country, the problem persists. The government and some social organisations are trying to eliminate this problem. As the leader of your college outreach group, suggest five ways in which you could positively intervene in developing awareness about this problem.

(200 words)

5. Your friend had been practicing for selection to the college hockey team, but was unable to make it. Write a short dialogue (about 200 words) with her/him, asking her/him as to why she/he failed. Also, motivate her/him to practice again for the next time.

You can start like this :

You: Hi, (Your friend's name), how are you? Did you make it to the college team for participating in the competition you were practicing for?

Friend: Hi. No, I did not make it to the team. I am no good.

You: ...
